Mud and Rain Does Not Interfer with Rifle Matches Near Congressional Heights.

LIEUT. H. H. BARROWS HAS SENSATIONAL SCORE

Special Interest in Company Contests to Pick Winners to Shoot at Seagirt.

In spite of a stendy rain, a lowering sky, and a mile of deep mud between the range and the car line, District National revolver matches at 9 o'clock yesterday morning.

The range is located in a hollow near Congressional Heights. On one side are the tents of the milital headquarters and the firing line, resembling a force in the field. The targets are across the little valley on a wooded hill. The scorers are concealed in trenches near the marks. Early in the day there was an even light, which aided the men; but late in the afternoon heavy showers fell, and it became so dark as to make shooting difficult. Nevertheless, some remarkably good scores were made. The most sensational feature of the day's shoot was the winning of the Carinody match by Lieut. H. H. Barrows, with 3 out of a possible 3, a perfect score. The complete score of this match has not yet been made out.

Interest in Team Work.

Special interest centered in the Con pany team match, because the six con pany team match, because the six company teams match, because the six company teams making the highest scores will represent the District National Guard in the State company match at Seaghrt in August. The winning teams and their scores were as follows: Company R. Second Infantry, 208; Company R. Second Infantry, 184; Company G. Second Infantry, 184; Company G. Second Infantry, sixth place.

The contest for the McLennan Trophy, a two-man event, was won by Lieut. C. G. Oardener and Private Invis.

The resimental match was won by the Trait Programment with a score of 284. The First Registernet, with a score of 284. The Trait Registernet, with a score of 284. The Trait Register was the second interest was the second int
